Capgemini recognized as a 'Leader' in the IT Sustainability Services Providers evaluation by independent research firm

New report: Capgemini has a comprehensive set of sustainability-focused accelerators, and clients have highlighted its proven experience with green IT, especially in data centers.

Paris, November 30, 2023 – Capgemini today announced that it has been named as a 'Leader' in The Forrester Wave™: IT Sustainability Service Providers, Q3 2023. Forrester evaluated 11 of the most significant IT Sustainability Services providers according to a comprehensive 28-point criteria based on current offering, market presence, and strategy.

In the report, Capgemini was recognized for doubling down on its sustainability assets. Forrester called out Capgemini's robust innovation ecosystem which enables collaboration with technology partners, startups, and academic institutions to drive tangible value and tackle sustainability challenges. The report also mentions that clients note Capgemini's strong partnership on transformation topics and proven experience in green IT, especially in data centers.

"Capgemini stands out for its ability to design and engineer clean tech, securing patents and investing in research on sustainability topics to anticipate client needs," said Abhijit Sunil, Senior Analyst, Forrester.

"We believe this recognition by Forrester further underlines our ability to accelerate the sustainability journey of our clients across the entire value chain," commented Vincent Charpiot, Head of Capgemini's Sustainability Accelerator. "Capgemini is spearheading sustainable transformation, blending end-to-end capabilities, data-driven insights, and climate technology expertise. Sustainable IT services are just one of the many services Capgemini provides to align clients' business goals with planet protection while unlocking value."
